

WEBINAR

April 04, 2025

2pm-4pm CET

How can agroecology be a lever for women's emancipation in North Africa ??

WEBINAR in French and English

REGISTRATION REQUIRED: <https://us06web.zoom.us/join/CIWU-4vFTK-GzImDrlWFPQ>

Summary

This webinar will look at the place of women in food systems in North Africa, and how agroecology is helping to empower them. Presentations by researchers and farmers from Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco will provide a better understanding of how agroecology can empower rural women, enabling them to access new economic opportunities and participate in collective territorial dynamics. Several question and answer sessions will be held to enable participants to react to the presentations and share their own experience and vision of more inclusive rural development.

The webinar will be held in French, with English translation provided.

Program (CET)

- 14h00-14h10 – Welcome, contextualization of the webinar, presentation of the webinar and speakers
Morgane Gaudin, MEDAE network Coordinator – CARI Association
- 14h10-14h20 – Introduction of the webinar : Role and place of women in agroecology in North Africa
Zoubir Chattou, Researcher at the Ecole Nationale d’Agriculture de Meknès (ENAM)
- 14h20-14h35 – TUNISIA : Neo-rural women settling in agroecology in oasis and peri-urban systems
Imene
Chelbi, Farmer and founder of the El Rothen farm
- 14h35-14h55 – First question and answer session
- 14h55-15h10 – ALGERIA : Agroecology and emancipation of rural women in mountain agroecosystems
Karima Boudedja, Senior researcher at the Centre de Recherche en Economie Appliquée pour le Développement (CREAD)
- 15h10-15h25 – MOROCCO : Agroecology and emancipation of rural women in mountain agroecosystems
Ghizlane Echchgadda, Teacher-researcher at the Ecole Nationale d’Agriculture de Meknès (ENAM)
- 15h25-15h45 – Second question and answer session
- 15h45-15h55 – Closing remarks by the great witness
Rachel Bezner Kerr, Teacher at the Cornell University
- 16:00 - End of the webinar

The registration is mandatory, so sign up now here.